

and Chris King raised £100 for the scheme and confirmed today the kitchens will be under Michelin-starred ex-TV chef John Noon, who 1999.

He said: "I am glad to have returned to Liverpool during one of ble, while remembering the key themes of comfort and style."

neilhodgson@liverpoolecho.co.uk

There are 12 ca from corporate e of the year to you exporter of the y Application detail 01322 611368 or v www.international awards.co.uk

NEW legislation electrical safety has introduced for fitting and construction industry.

Liverpool Chamber of Commerce is urging Merseyside firms to familiarise themselves with the new regulations. The chamber's regional department provides a Stationery Office Health and Safety Information Pack. Contact 0208 258 1234 to obtain them.

A ROYAL Enterprise Champions award to recognise entrepreneurial leaders has been awarded to Merseysiders. They were invited to take part in the award.

The Queen's Award for Enterprise Promotion recognises entrepreneurs as other schemes do. It is a success in sports arts.

Deadline for nominations is October 31. Contact 0207 222 2277 or www.queensawards.gov.uk

THE second annual achievements award will be made by the Muslim Education Development Society at the Conference on Education, Lace, Crompton and September 15. Guests include

CAMERA EYE: Stephen Collins at the Gingerbread Cottage nursery

Pictures: MARTIN BIRCHALL

Nurseries to get cameras

A Merseyside nursery has installed Big Brother-style cameras, and more nurseries will follow suit, it is claimed today.

Gingerbread Cottage Day Nursery in Fazakerley installed cameras at its Field Lane premises in

By HELEN CLARKE

January.

They allow parents to check on their children at the touch of a button via internet access.

Gingerbread owner

Stephen Collins, 33, says it gives parents peace of mind and the system is now something a lot of parents want, following a recent BBC documentary alleging bad practice at nurseries in Stoke, Manchester and London.