Frome's new unveiled...

...Sunday, 8.30am - the bronze sculpture has been vandalised

DAMAGED AGAIN: Less than 24 hours later, the statue has been vandalised, above, and is now also in danger of toppling over so scaffolding has been put around it, right

Arrest is made after one month

A FROME man who had been on the run from the police for more than one month was this week arrested.

Jason White, who is 28 and from Singers Knoll, was arrested last Monday in the Wells area in relation to an incident on July 25 in Wells.

Mr White appeared in Bath Magistrates' Court on Friday morning charged with four burglaries, an attempted burglary, possession of an offensive weapon, possession of a knife blade or pointed article, handling stolen property, handling stolen goods and obtaining property by deception.

The case was adjourned to Bristol Crown Court where White will appear tomorrow (Friday).

Nursery instals new webcam

A FROME nursery has become one of the first in the country to install a new webcam facility.

NurseryCam has been set up at the Butterfly Pre-school, which is based on the Marston Trading Estate, and parents will now be able to monitor their children.

The new initiative comes a week after a BBC1 documentary exposed three nurseries which had been mistreating youngsters.
